Dennis DiNoia.

EDUCATOR · SPEAKER · AUTHOR

Make obsolete obsolete.

Dennis DiNoia, M.A.Ed., known as Mr. D, shows audiences how to get students to own their learning. For more than 35 years he has helped young people become independently responsible learners, from dropout-prevention programs to homeschool families around the world.

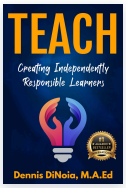

THE PROOF

35+
years in education, since 1988

16,000+
students through Mr. D Math, the school he founded

21
staff, every one a former student or a parent

#1
international bestseller, TEACH

TEACH: Creating Independently Responsible Learners, second edition, 2026. Next: The Student Becomes the Teacher: Turning Test Anxiety into Confidence.

> "Your being here at FPEA makes this a better conference, and each year you bring more and more to the table."
> Larry Wang, Florida Parent Educators Association

KEYNOTES

01 The Lion in the Room
Test anxiety, and what brain science says about students under pressure. Why "calm down" backfires, and what works instead.

02 Probe, Master, Empower
A framework for raising independent learners, and the keynote behind TEACH. Stop being the answer. Start being the guide.

03 Goal Setting with the Merlin Principle
Create the future first, then close the gap. The audience leaves with a written goal and a daily practice.

04 Living the Life of an Entrepreneur
What it takes to build something that matters: from a back room in a bookstore to a school with 16,000+ students.

05 Honor Your Word as Yourself
The difference between keeping your word and honoring it, and how self-trust gets rebuilt one promise at a time.

For schools and districts, universities, parent organizations, homeschool conventions and education conferences. Recent stages: FPEA graduation commencement keynote, 2026 · Voices of Impact at Nasdaq and The TimesCenter, New York.
